CHARLEROI FIREMEN START VOTING CONTEST TOMORROW

Continues Three Weeks and Six Splendid Prizes Will be Awarded.

DIAMOND RING FIRST PRIZE

Year's Scholarship in Douglas Business College One of the Plums.

With a list of six valuable prizes the Charleroi Volunteer Fire Department will inaugurate a voting contest tomorrow. Beginning on Saturday August 20, it closes on Saturday, September 10, and in the meantime a most interesting and exciting contest will likely take place. The contest will be for the most popular lady in Charleroi, and will be conducted after the same manner as the Carnival Queen voting contests recently held here.

Five of the six prizes have already been selected, and they are of sufficient value to insure the liveliest kind of a contest. The first prize a $75 diamond ring which will be awarded the lady in Charleroi having the greatest number of votes during the three weeks' contest. The second prize is a $60 one year course in the Douglas College, which is donated through the offices of Supt. Wm. Adams of that institution. This is also a most valuable prize, and is well worth the efforts of any contestant. Other prizes are a season pass to the Palace Theatre, donated by Manager R. L. Barnhart, a season pass to the Coyle Theatre, donated by the manager of that popular house; a handsome rocker, donated from the furniture store of S. L. Woodward. The sixth prize has not yet been decided upon, but will be announced shortly.

The candidates will be confined to the ladies of Charleroi, and it is expected that a large number of entries will be made in the race. One cent a vote will be the price, and envelope blanks and polling places will be provided for the contest. The result will be published regularly and will no doubt reach large proportions before the balloting ends. The object is to secure funds for the department. Any lady wishing to enter the race should leave her name at the plumbing establishment of Fire Chief J. M. Fleming of Fallowfield avenue.

Frank B. Wickerham a prominent young business man of Monongahela, has decided to be a candidate for the Republican nomination for register of wills. While he does not expect to enter into an active campaign until the proper time arrives, he makes the announcement at this particular time in order to apprise his friends of his intentions. Mr. Wickerham is well equipped by natural ability and business training to fill the office, and he will no doubt prove to be an aspiring candidate.

Contractors Make Progress on New Filtration Plant

Duplicate Pump and Machinery Being Installed and Mammoth Settling Basin Well Along Toward Completion.

Rapid progress is being made on the new filtration plant of the Charleroi Water company at the pumping station on McKean avenue near First street. The Phil and Miller contracting company is pushing the work, and already three structures are well along toward completion. These are the new pump house for the duplicate pump, the filtration house and the settling basin.

The pump house is built of brick with a steel girder roof, and the filration house is constructed of both brick and concrete. The new pump and other machinery have arrived, and is being installed with the construction of the structures. Some of the equipment is ponderous, and can only be installed before the enclosing structure is complete.

The settling basin is a huge concrete affair, 90 feet long, 37 feet wide, and 16 feet deep, inside measurements. It is reenforced by twisted steel rods varing in thickness from three-eighths to seven-eights in thickness. These rods are crossed at the bottom on which the concrete rests, and the walls are also re-enforced with uprite rods inside the concrete. A big force of men are at work and the plant has already assumed proportions to indicate that it will be able to answer all requirements.

An important social event in this community will be the third reunion of the Chalfant family, which takes place tomorrow at Beechwood Park. Much preparation has been made for this event, and representatives of the family are expected from distant points including several States. The Chalfant family trace their ancestry back to the Cromwellian days of England and this particular branch came over with William Penn's following. Settling in the eastern part of the State a member of the family pushed across the mountains and located at Brownsville about the time of the outbreak of the Revolutionary War. From this ancestor are the members of the family in this secton descended.

HIBERNIANS ELECT PITTSBURG MAN

Smoky City Delegates at Shamokin Make Pull for Next Convention.

Charleroi members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will be interested to learn that a Pittsburger was elected State president at the biennial convention now in session at Shamokin. This is James B. Sheehan who defeated J. F. Canfield of Shenandoah after a warm contest. The other officers elected were: Vice president Edward Early of Shamokin; treasurer M. S. Geary, Sethport, McKean county, secretary Michal Deasy of Pittsburg. An effort is being made to land the next convention for either Pittsburg or McKeesport.

John Sullivan is the delegate for the local A. O. H. and Mr. and Mrs. John Maines are also at Shamokin attending the convention.

PRIVATE PROSECUTOR PAYS THE COSTS

William Anderson, colored, was found guilty at court yesterday afternoon of assault and battery and pointing firearms. James Ford, who was indicted with him, was found not guilty. The private prosecutor in the case was Robert Vanscribb, also colored. The case grew out of a free for all fight at California. In the one case against Ford, in which he was found not guilty, the costs were placed on Vanscribb and he went to jail in default of payment.

Up-River Negro Claims an Alibi

The counsel of Kent Smith, the negro charged with assaulting and attempting to rob Mr. and Mrs. William Noble of Centerville last February, is making a vigorous fight for their client. The case was on trial in court yesterday, and the indications are that it will continue the greater part of today. Kent makes absolute denial of committing the crime, and is trying to establish an alibi.

Neck Broken by Backward Fall

With his neck broken as the result of a fall from a bridge abutment William Knicely, of Rices Landing, was found late last evening one mile from Jefferson. It is supposed that Mr. Knicely had sat down on the abutment to rest and had fallen over backwards. Corner Adamson of Greene county investigated the death and is of the opinion that death resulted almost instantly. Mr. Knicely was 60 years of age.

Mitchell Pleads For Conciliation

At the miners' convention at Indianapolis yesterday John Mitchell, for whose expression the United Mine Workers have been waiting, was given the floor at the convention. He spoke favorably of the demands of the Illinois miners, but at the same time was concilaitory concerning the entire situation.

MONONGAHELA WILL BE IN LINE AT OPENING RALLY

Down River Republicans Will Come Here with Bands and Banners.

TO HONOR JOHN K. TENER

Active Movement on Foot to Rally Political Hosts September 3.

Monongahela will be in line at the opening of the Republican State campaign at Charleroi on September 3. At a meeting of members of the Charleroi executive committee at the former town last evening, to which the precinct chairmen and other prominent citizens and Republicans were invited, the matter was taken up most enthusiastically, and efforts will be made at once to organize a mammoth marching club at the down river town. Band and other orders will be also invited to come to the rally and the Monongahela delegation will constitute an important division in the parade.

At the meeting last night a number of prominent Republicans and workers were present, and plans and preliminary arrangements were discussed. Those present were heartily enrolled and another meeting will be called for Monday night to take steps to complete arrangements. When it comes to organizing a parade Monongahela is the banner town in that respect. All that is necessary there is to supply a leading cause, and there is never any lack of followers. Hon. Chas. A. Bentley, Former Mayor Elwood, Albert Gregg, Harry Landefeld, S. M. Downer and other equally prominent Republican workers are expected to take a hand in the matter, and already assurances have been given that Monongahela will be on hand enmasse to give their neighor, John K. Tener, a fitting reception and sendoff on his Gubernatorial campaign.

Tonight the Charleroi executive committee will go over to Belle Vernon to enlist the hosts from that loyal Republican town and arouse them to the necessary enthusiasm to take part in the big demonstration here. With the free bridge now Charleroi is easily accessible, and there will be no doubt of Belle Vernon as well as Fayette City and other contiguous territory turning out in force.

Church League to Hold Field Meet

Chance Will be Given to Test Individual Prowess of Members.

The much mooted question of who is the best sprinter, thrower and bunter in the Church League will be decided at the ball park next Friday evening, August 26, beginning at 5 o'clock sharp. A monster field day will be held, open to every player in the Church league and nothing but regulation baseball uniforms will be worn. The events will be the one hundred yard dash, running the bases, long distane throw, accurate throwing to second base, from the outfield and to home plate and fungo hitting. It will be the biggest event of the kind ever held in Charleroi.

MONESSEN LINING UP

Republican Hosts Prepare to Invade Charleroi at Rally Sept 3

Monessen Republicans are making preparations to turn out in force at the opening rally of the State Republican Gubernatorial campaign which will be held in Charleroi Saturday, September 3. A meeting has been called for Tuesday night to perfect and discuss preparations for the big event. Col. Derickson, who was at the Charleroi meeting Tuesday evenings, announced that possibly arrangements would be made to have a mounted detachment, but at all events a mighty host would invade the Magic City when John K. Tener opens his campaign for Governor.

those persons who strenously t that the Republican party is nated by a few politicans, and a new party is essential, would the situation in an impartial they would readily see that tions in the dominant organized are such because the majority ters want them so. If certain ns take the lead and initiative tain party affairs, it is at the ance of the majority of that . With the enactment of the rm primary law the people of ounty can at any time revolt st the State leadership of any ical or dominance of any ent or faction. That none of the ies have done so is pretty good nce that conditions are satisfac- to the people in general. ith this condition, what's the use rying to organize and finance er party? Suppose such a party ccessfully and firmly established, t any more power for popular ssion than any of the parties ave existence? It must nomin- e officers under the provisions of the primary law and under the conditions as the Republican, cratic, Prohibition, Socialist and e other parties. Its county and delegations must be chosen in ely the same manner. No voter Keystone party has any more m of individual action than a in any of the other parties. can cast a secret ballot in both ominating and general elections ave it counted. The Keystone hasn't a right or a privilege that enjoyed by his Republican or cratic bother.

e present lineup of candidates of eystone party do not represent a ar choice. If it did those who the nominations would probably rganizing still another party. ld the Keystone party survive become a permanent fixture, it develop the same disaffected rity as the others, and the old about "great lice having little upon their backs to bite 'em" be realized indefinitely. Under ent laws and conditions a new y can do no more than the old ones ady established. The only way to ge conditions is to make a fight ne primaries, and if licked to take medicine and try again. It is the success of this or that faction constitutes reforms. It is the istent efforts of minorities at the inating conventions that compel selection of candidates of a higher dard. This is now being done Penns lvania, and while our nds, the enemy, will probably deny they cannot well controvert the rtion that political conditions in State are immitely better than he palmy days of the Quay domin- n.

Paying the Piper

ome one who has taken the pains ently to make the calculation as- serts that it requires nearly $1,500 a day to pay the running expenses of Washington county. This is a big amount and if the average holds out all the year the annual expenditures will aggregate over half a million dollars.

Although Washington county is but one of the sixty-seven political divisions of the State, it is nevertheless an important one, and if the public expenditures are wisely administered, the people will be the winner. While there is little cause for complaint at the present time, much of the burden of county indebtedness was incurred in the past to advance the interests of factional politics. The "good roads" folly of Former Congressman E. F. Acheson, which constructed expensive eight and ten foot roads which have had to be widened at additional expense is a penalty of using the public service to further political ends on which we are now paying interest. In addition therewere a thous and other extravagances in bridge contacts, excessive clerk hire, and numrous other details which swelled public expenses so that bond issues had to be floated at intervals to take care of excessive overdrafts on the public treasure. The installation of a $50,000 heating and lighting plant in the county buildings that was abandoned is another instance of unwonted extravagance.

Now, with a county controller, ublic expenditures can be safeguarded. It is the mal-administration of the past that makes our county expenditures burdensome.

A Neglected Opportunity

An engineer who has recently made a tour of the Middle West to gather data relative to proposed waterway improvements informs us that he was astonished to find what large amount of freighting was done by individual storekeepers and smaller merchants in launches propelled by internal combustion motors says the Scientific American. The country storekeeper living on the banks of the rivers and canals has found that he can ship his own freight from the wholesale dealer and distribute to his retail customer by motorboat at a cost far below that of any other available means of conveyance. There is in this fact a suggestion of future usefulness for abandoned canals in which the draft is limited.

In view of the splendid motor boating facilities between here and Pittsburg, it is rather strange that retail merchants along the Monongahela river have not taken advantage of the situation. A motorboat costs less than an automobile, is cheaper to maintain, and in transporting goods from the wholesale makret both business and pleasure could be combined. Motor boat transportation is a neglected opportunity in this section.

CHARLEROI FIREMEN START VOTING CONTEST TOMORROW

Continues Three Weeks and Six Splendid Prizes Will be Awarded.

DIAMOND RING FIRST PRIZE

With a list of six valuable prizes the Charleroi Volunteer Fire Department will inaugurate a voting contest tomorrow. Beginning on Saturday August 20, it closes on Saturday, September 10, and in the meantime a most interesting and exciting contest will likely take place. The contest will be for the most popular lady in Charleroi, and will be conducted after the same manner as the Carnival Queen voting contests recently held here.

Five of the six prizes have already been selected, and they are of sufficient value to insure the liveliest kind of a contest. The first prize a $75 diamond ring which will be awarded the lady in Charleroi having the greatest number of votes during the three weeks' contest. The second prize is a $60 one year course in the Douglas College, which is donated through the offices of Supt. Wm. Adams of that institution. This is also a most valuable prize, and is well worth the efforts of any contestant. Other prizes are a season pass to the Palace Theatre, donated by Manager R. L. Barnhart, a season pass to the Coyle Theatre, donated by the manager of that popular house; a handsome rocker, donated from the furniture store of S. L. Woogward. The sixth prize has not yet been decided upon, but will be announced shortly.

The candidates will be confined to the ladies of Charleroi and it is expected that a large number of entries will be made in the race. One cent a vote will be the price, and envelope blanks and polling places will be provided for the contest. The result will be published regularly and will no doubt reach large proportions before the balloting ends. The object is to secure funds for the department. Any lady wishing to enter the race should leave her name at the plumbing establishment of Fir. Chief J. M. Fleming of Fallowfield avenue.

Contractors Make Progress on New Filtration Plant

Duplicate Pump and Machinery Being Installed and Mammoth Settling Basin Well Along Toward Completion.

Rapid progress is being made on the new filtration plant of the Charleroi Water company at the pumping station on McKean avenue near First street. The Phil and Miller contracting company is pushing the work, and already three structures are well along toward completion. These are the new pump house for the duplicate pump, the filtration house and the settling basin.

The pump house is built of brick with a steel girder roof, and the filtration house is constructed of both brick and concrete. The new pump and other machinery have arrived, and is being installed with the construction of the structures. Some of the equipment is ponderous, and can only be installed before the enclosing structure is complete.

The settling basin is a huge concrete affair, 90 feet long, 37 feet wide, and 16 feet deep, inside measurements. It is reenforced by twisted steel rods varying in thickness from three-eights to seven-eights in thickness. These rods are crossed at the bottom on which the concrete rests, and the walls are also re-enforced with uprite rods inside the concrete. A big force of men are at work and the plant has already assumed proportions to indicate that it will be able to answer all requirements.

Settling in the eastern part of the State a member of the family pushed across the mountains and located at Brownsville about the time of the outbreak of the Revolutionary War. William Anderson, colored, was found guilty at court yesterday afternoon of assault and battery and pointing firearms. James Ford, who was indicted with him, was found not guilty. Down River Republicans Will Come Here with Bands and Banners.

TO HONOR JOHN K. TENER

Active Movement on Foot to Rally Political Hosts September 3.

Monongahela will be in line at the opening of the Republican State campaign at Charleroi on September 3. At a meeting of members of the Charleroi executive committee at the former town last evening, to which the precinct chairmen and other prominent citizens and Republicans were invited, the matter was taken up most enthusiastically, and efforts will be made at once to organize a mammoth marching club at the down river town. Band and other orders will be also invited to come to the rally and the Monongahela delegation will constitute an important division in the parade.

At the meeting last night a number of prominent Republicans and workers were present, and plans and preliminary arrangements were discussed. Those present were heartily enrolled and another meeting will be called for Monday night to take steps to complete arrangements. When it comes to organizing a parade Monongahela is the banner town in that respect. All that is necessary there is to supply a leading cause, and there is never any lack of followers. Hon. Chas. A. Bentley, Former Mayor Elwood, Albert Gregg, Harry Landefeld, S. M. Downer and other equally prominent Republican workers are expected to take a hand in the matter, and already assurances have been given that Monongahela will be on hand enmasse to give their neighor, John K. Tener, a fitting reception and sendoff on his Gubernatorial campaign.

Tonight the Charleroi executive committee will go over to Belle Vernon to enlist the hosts from that loyal Republican town and arouse them to the necessary enthusiasm to take part in the big demonstration here. With the free bridge now Charleroi is more easily accessible, and there will be no doubt of Belle Vernon, as well as Fayette City and other contiguous towns turning out in force.

MONESSEN LINING UP

Republican Hosts Prepare to Invade Charleroi at Rally Sept. 3

Monessen Republicans are making preparations to turn out in a body at the opening rally of the State Republican Gubernatorial campaign which will be held in Charleroi Saturday, September 3. A meeting has been called for Tuesday night to plan and discuss preparations for the big event. Col. Derickson, who was at the Charleroi meeting Tuesday evenings, announced that possibly arrangements would be made to bring a mounted detachment, but at all events a mighty host would invade the Magic City when John K. Tener opens his campaign for Governor.

What's the Use?

If those persons who strenously insist that the Republican party is dominated by a few politicans, and that a new party is essential, would view the situation in an impartial light, they would readily see that conditions in the dominant organized party are such because the majority of voters want them so. If certain persons take the lead and initiative in certain party affairs, it is at the sufferance of the majority of that party. With the enactment of the uniform primary law the people of any county can at any time revolt against the State leadership of any individual or dominance of any element or faction. That none of the counties have done so is pretty good evidence that conditions are satisfactory to the people in general.

With this condition, what's the use of trying to organize and finance another party? Suppose such a party is successfully and firmly established. Has it any more power for popular expression than any of the parties already in existence? It must nominate its officers under the provisions of the same primary law and under the same conditions as the Republican, Democratic, Prohibition, Socialist and all the other parties. Its county and state delegations must be chosen in precisely the same manner. No voter in the Keystone party has any more freedom of individual action than a voter in any of the other parties. Each can cast a secret ballot in both the nominating and general elections and have it counted. The Keystone voter hasn't a right or a privilege that isn't enjoyed by his Republican or Democratic bother.

The present lineup of candidates of the Keystone party do not represent a popular choice. If it did those who made the nominations would probably be organizing still another party. Should the Keystone party survive and become a permanent fixture, it will develop the same disaffected minority as the others, and the old saw about "great lice having little lice upon their backs to bite 'em" will be realized indefinitely. Under present laws and conditions a new party can do no more than the old ones already established. The only way to change conditions is to make a fight at the primaries, and if licked to take the medicine and try again. It is not the success of this or that faction that constitutes reforms. It is the persistent efforts of minorities at the nominating conventions that compel the selection of candidates of a higher standard. This is now being done in Pennsylvania, and while our friends, the enemy, will probably deny this they cannot well controvert the assertion that political conditions in the State are infinitely better than in the palmy days of the Quay domination.

Paying the Piper

Some one who has taken the pains evidently to make the calculation asserts that it requires nearly $1,500 a day to pay the running expenses of Washington county. This is a big amount and if the average holds out all the year the annual expenditures will aggregate over half a million dollars.

Although Washington county is but one of the sixty-seven political divisions of the State, it is nevertheless an important one, and if the public expenditures are wisely administered, the people will be the winner. While there is little cause for complaint at the present time, much of the burden of county indebtedness was incurred in the past to advance the interests of factional politics. The "good roads" folly of Former Congressman E. F. Acheson, which constructed expensive eight and ten foot roads which have had to be widened at additional expense is a penalty of using the public service to further political ends on which we are now paying interest. In addition there were a thousand other extravagances in bridge contacts, excessive clerk hire, and numrous other details which swelled public expenses so that bond issues had to be floated at intervals to take care of excessive overdrafts on the public treasure. The installation of a $50,000 heating and lighting plant in the county buildings that was abandoned is another instance of unwonted extravagance.

Now, with a county controller, public expenditures can be safeguarded. It is the mal-administration of the past that makes our county expenditures burdensome.

A Neglected Opportunity

An engineer who has recently made a tour of the Middle West to gather data relative to proposed waterway improvements informs us that he was astonished to find what large amount of freighting was done by individual storekeepers and smaller merchants in launches propelled by internal combustion motors says the Scientific American. The country storekeeper living on the banks of the rivers and canals has found that he can ship his own freight from the wholesale dealer and distribute to his retail customer by motorboat at a cost far below that of any other available means of conveyance. There is in this fact a suggestion of future usefulness for abandoned canals in which the draft is limited.

In view of the splendid motor boating facilities between here and Pittsburg, it is rather strange that retail merchants along the Monongahela river have not taken advantage of the situation. A motorboat costs less than an automobile, is cheaper to maintain, and in transporting goods from the wholesale makret both business and pleasure could be combined. Motor boat transportation is a neglected opportunity in this section.
